EASY COME

A Toronto man who has been "long on relief" has "drawn a horse" in the Irish hospital sweepstakes. It may be because he is the sort of man who purchases lottery tickets while his family is in need that he has to accept public assistance. For every person who wins a little something out of the Irish sweepstakes there are thousands who have squandered substantial sums of money buying tickets and winning nothing. It is not unlikely that the average man who wins a lottery prize has wasted enough time and money over lottery tickets to have given himself a substantial and earned start in life.

USE OF WORD "PAEFIST"

The word "pacifist" is used rather loosely. It is most commonly used to describe those who do not believe in the use of arms and who say that they would refuse to take up arms even if conscripted. It is also frequently used to describe a much larger class of people who are workers for international peace, who believe that they can bring about world peace by cultivating peace-mindedness in themselves and their fellow countrymen while other peace workers in other countries do likewise.

Cry For Action

The veterans' publication, the Legionary, says: "With the 'reprieve' given by the Munich agreement, there may be time to repair some of the fences which the apathy of our people, the complacency of politicians and the so-called pacifists, who have been loudest in their clamor for action against the totalitarian states, have brought to a condition of virtual decay." It seems to us that in the Czechoslovakian crisis the honors were pretty well divided in crying for action, but in the Spanish crisis the cry of dismay may well have come most loudly from some of those who have been trying to build up in Canada a sentiment for peace. Many ardent supporters of the League of Nations ideal were among those who felt that Britain and France, by entering into the non-intervention agreement with Italy and Germany, who did not keep their word, were being unfair to the government of Spain. Many enthusiastic believers in democracy were anxious for democratic countries to intervene on the loyalist side, but wiser counsel prevailed. And that "apathy of our people" referred to in the same article, may be just a more or less natural disinclination of parents to offer their sons up as a sacrifice in the backyard quarrels of Europe.

THAT DUTY TO VOTE

Next year or 1940 will be a federal election year. No issues are in sight, unless the U. S. trade treaty is going to be contentious. There is likely to be another battle between the "ins" and "outs," those who have power, influence and patronage and those who want it.

SOW THE WIND, REAP THE WHIRLWIND

A few weeks ago we wrote that Mr. Hepburn was doing no good by making wild statements about Ontario being "the milk cow" for the rest of Canada, when, as every intelligent person knows, Ontario and Quebec are the greatest beneficiaries of confederation. Mr. Hepburn is promoting disunity. Now farmers of western Canada are again discussing the formation of a separate dominion from the western Ontario boundary to the Pacific. The Saskatchewan section of the United Farmers of Canada have instructed their directors to study the possibility "of setting up a western autonomous state within the British Empire." Note what the introducer of the motion had to say: "Premier Hepburn of Ontario says that the east is being used as a milk cow for the west, and now Leopold Maccalay, Ontario Conservative leader, backs him up in this attitude. . . . Unless some arrangement with eastern Canada can be made whereby the economic set-up can be made more favorable to the western farmer, there appears to be no alternative than to try it alone." Mr. Hepburn may lose us our western market.

PHEASANT SHOOTING

In the first place, let us admit that we are prejudiced. We would sooner see a bird at large than in a game bag. We even sympathize with those people who have to wring the necks of domestic fowl. Nevertheless, we understand the pleasure of a day outdoors, the thrill of the hunt and the joy of success (unless, as happened to those bow-and-arrow hunters in northern Ontario the other day, a poor little deer turns its pleading eyes to the hunter before it expires). We can understand hunting and hunters, but, frankly, we don't see much sport in killing pheasants. The only odds against the hunter are that he may not stumble over a flock of birds, but the odds are nil against the hunter, with reasonable skill, who starts up some of these tame pheasants. One could almost kill them with a stick. It is simply murder to give birds sanctuary for 363 days in the year, to build up their confidence in the harmlessness of humans, and then to open fire on them.

Feed The Birds, Call The Tune

No doubt if there were no open season these birds would increase at an undesirable rate. If they must be slaughtered, leave the slaughtering to the farmers who have fed the pheasants. Let farmers have the privilege for a few days a year of killing birds on their own farms but not on anyone else's farm nor on the public highways. The pheasants' fatten on the grain left in the fields by the farmers, and then go on the tables of trespassing town and city folks. Several slight accidents occurred during the pheasant hunting last week, and several narrow escapes from stray pellets of lead occurred. It is just a matter of time until a tragedy occurs. There is no reason why rural dwellers should be in danger of their lives and have to duck and dodge or stay indoors while Guy Fawkes fills the air with lead.

A HOBBY SHOW

Bowmanville Lions club is planning to hold a hobby show in the spring. Referring to this plan, a speaker before the Home and School Association of that town said that every person, man, woman and child, should have a hobby, as a promise of happiness and long life. This particular subject is a hobby-horse of ours, a horse we have ridden pretty hard in the past. Perhaps it is because the writer has no particular hobby of his own. Something we do because we feel that we have to do it, or because we think it will help us earn a living, is not a hobby. For instance, the writer makes a sort of half-job of The Era garden, but that is not a hobby, because, pleasant as it may be, it is done with a sense of necessity, to present a passable public appearance. He also enjoys a little photography, but that isn't a hobby either, for the motive is to learn to take pictures for publication. Each one of us should pursue a hobby, which is complete relaxation, taking pictures if we don't have to take pictures, growing flowers if we don't have to grow flowers, making model aeroplanes or kites or model sailing-ships, or patchwork quilts for the fun of making them and not because they will be useful.

For Young And Old

And what is a hobby show? An interesting hobby show is held by the boys of the Broadview Y. M. C. A., Toronto, every year. It is an entertaining sort of exhibition. Each boy displays the result of his own handiwork, and prizes are given for the best workmanship. Under our new course of studies in the public schools, exhibitions of public school work amount to a hobby show. But it would be nice to have a community hobby show, where older folks might exhibit embroidery or pieces of furniture.

TURNING A STRAIGHT FURROW

To do a thing well is one of the great joys of life. The man who does his job well is a happy man. He is an expert and a specialist. An interesting story of the young man, of Simcoe county, 21 years old, who won the novice plowing honors at the international plowing match at Minesing, is told in the Midland Free Press. Here are a few extracts from an interview with his father: "Morris began to plow when he was 14 years old and he has been at it ever since. When he told me he would like to compete at Minesing I encouraged him. . . . Plowing comes natural to our family. Father was a good plowman and he taught us how to turn a straight furrow, keep the ground level and the furrows the same depth and width apart. This field has been plowed for many years and you can see there are no lumps in it. . . . I went down with him to Minesing, and we took our own team, so that he perhaps had some advantage over the fellows who were using strange horses. I looked after the horses and walked behind him as he plowed, coaching him the best I knew how. Was I a proud father when the results were announced? . . . You cannot blame me if I swelled up a bit."

Father And Son

Need we add that one of the other great joys in life, as revealed by this gifted interviewer, J. H. Cranston, is the pride of a father in a son he can pal with and work with and help to achieve achievements. Mr. Cranston is the former editor of the Toronto Star Weekly and seems to be enjoying himself greatly as a town editor. Perhaps he is able to bring out the pride of the plowman's father because he too has a son who is working with him and doing a fine job. Since we have come to know the weekly newspapermen of the province, we have come to think that there is no class of men doing more with less thought of reward than they, and the Cranstons of Midland stand near the top of the list.

How far we have come in the improvement of international relations in the last 30 years! In pre-war days a nation, particularly a great power, was likely to declare war immediately in reply to an affront, insult or attack on its nationals. Now as a result of the new diplomacy brought in with the League of Nations and the world court, the nations count ten before they demand an apology and they are inclined to accept the apology rather than go to war. A great power like Britain would have had to be very humble indeed before the great war to be as courteous as Britain has been to Italy and Japan in the face of repeated affronts during the last few years. And we think that Britain reveals her greatness as a display of might would not reveal it, for the greatness of Britain is not in her arms but in her contribution to the arts and sciences of civilization.

GOOD NEWS AND BAD

Members of Rotary clubs have to give "classification talks" in which they explain how they make their own living. John James, of the Bowmanville Canadian Statesman, who three years ago gave The Era a helping hand during holiday time, gave his talk to the Bowmanville Rotary club last week. He made the rather cold-blooded statement, "An accident is of little use to a modern daily newspaper unless there is someone killed," but, we are glad to say, added: "Herein weekly and daily newspapers differ." If we may take a turn at generalizing about newspapers, we would say that in dailies bad news predominates and that in weeklies good news predominates. Daily newspapers are filled with war, rumors of war, crime, sudden death, political squabbles. In a weekly newspaper the cheerful note predominates, even in an obituary, which is usually a proud recitation by the weekly of a local life well lived. There is a place both for good news and for bad, for the weeklies and the dailies, but it is certainly much pleasanter to be a bearer of good news.

"A young man is known by the company he keeps; an old man by the money he keeps," says the Ambrosburg Echo. And the money that the old man keeps surely depends on the company that the young man kept and married.

DIETETICS

Far be it from me to try to delude my readers into thinking that I could deliver a lecture on dietetics. I have a vague idea, which sometimes comes into collision with firmly held, pre-conceived ideas as to how to apply the science to my family, and find so many of the ideas put forward by those who study how best to feed our families, to be based on common sense as well as knowledge, that is an easy matter to adopt them.

On the afternoon of Tuesday, Oct. 18, Miss Smith came from the department of agriculture in Toronto, and, in the Vandorf community hall addressed members from various institutes on the subject, "Menus to Fit."

She is, although young, the homemaker in a farm home, and besides purely collegiate knowledge, has had a grand opportunity of trying out her theories on her family.

Some, she said, met an instant and enthusiastic reception, some not so readily.

She said that while most farmers are using every effort, and sparing neither time nor expense to find the proper foods for their stock, they seem surprised that the same effort should be put forth to find a balanced diet for the household.

She told some interesting facts about the way vitamins were discovered.

Vitamin "C" was discovered when it was found that sailors, who on long voyages, contracted scurvy, were cured when given fresh fruits, especially those of the citrus family.

Another, which proved that the lack of roughage in diet is a serious detriment to health, was discovered by an emperor of Japan, in the long ago. He sent two ships to sea. On one the men were supplied with unpurified rice, on the other with polished rice. Those who had the rougher diet came back from the trip in good health, while those who ate the smooth rice were sickly and devoid of what we call "pep."

Miss Smith stressed the fact that we lose a great deal of the nourishment we are entitled to by improper conservation of certain ingredients. For instance—potatoes—they should never be peeled till just before they are popped into the boiling water; then they should be cooked in a minimum of water and closely covered. These strictures applied to all vegetables and she advised the baking of vegetables where possible.

It was asked if the eating of potato skins (baked) was advisable and she said, "If they are palatable to the individual, all right." One woman said she baked hers at a temperature of 450 degrees for 45 minutes, picked them with a fork a few minutes before removing from the oven and the potatoes came out fluffy and the skins crisp and delicious.

Another question asked was about the making of cocoa, and her answer was that cocoa must be boiled for a few minutes as it contains cornstarch and it is not sufficient just to pour boiling water on it.

Miss Smith, speaking of canning, said that we can blame any failure to keep our canned products on lack of cleanliness. No matter how much we sterilized our jars, if we allowed our fingers in the process of bottling, to come in contact with the contents, we destroyed all we had gained by sterilizing the jars.

One thing she said which was welcome news to those who do not like their milk "au naturel" was that by the use of milk puddings, sauces, soups, etc., we could get our milk ration in a way that suited our tastes.

She emphasized the fact that too often people serve too many starchy foods at the same meal—maybe macaroni AND potatoes, and bread and cake and pie too often come on at a single meal.

She said we should have meat certainly, for dinner meal anyway, and eggs or cheese for supper. These with vegetables and fruit, cooked carefully and served generously, would discourage a too abundant use of pie and cake, which were all right in their place, but only there.

Altogether, Miss Smith gave a worth while talk, and I think there was not one woman there who did not carry away some little helpful hint, which would add to the family health and comfort.

YOUNG CHIPS MEETS A FOXY MIGRANT

BY RUTH DINGMAN HENB

"Hello, Nutty Nuthatch," said Young Chips. "What's doing?" "Why, everything's doing," replied Nutty. "Do you know about all the people that are walking out on us these days? During that grand warm weather we had last week all sorts of people told me that they were going to stay on indefinitely, but when it turned cold again they quickly changed their tune."

"Have many of the folks gone?" asked Young Chips. "I haven't been paying much attention."

"I should say so," said Nutty. "The Scarlet Tanagers went ten days ago, and so did the Catbirds and House Wrens. The Tree Swallows have gone, and the Wood Pewees and Whip-poor-Will and the Nightjaws and the Swifts. Bob Bobolink went over two weeks ago and the Cowbirds and Grackles have just gone. Shall I go on?"

"No, don't bother," Young Chips told him. "I think that's enough for now."

"I can tell you something else, that I think you wouldn't mind knowing," offered Nutty. "It's not about someone who has gone away, but someone who has arrived in town, just a couple of days ago."

"Oh, who?" asked Young Chips. "Is it some friend of mine?"

"He's far from a friend of any of our crowd," said Nutty. "I refer to the Northern Shrike. I heard that he had been seen out on Eagle St."

"Oh, horrors!" said Young Chips. "That's certainly bad news. There's no one I fear more than that grey murderer, with the cruel hooked bill. Once in a long time I have a nightmare about being impaled by him on some thorn and being slowly and painfully torn up and devoured."

"What a jolly sort of dream to have," said Nutty. "I'm sure you are far too easy to let such a dreadful fate as that overtake you."

"I hope I am," said Young Chips. "But that chap is such a bold and daring villain that I am not very sure of myself, when he is around. I think I'll stick to the east side of the town for a while."

"Why, I wonder who that was that just darted into those bushes," said Nutty just then.

"Now that there are no leaves on the trees he ought to be easy to see."

"It looked like a rather large

CARD OF THANKS

Mr. Joseph Buckle and family wish to take this opportunity of conveying their heartfelt thanks to their many friends for their very kind expressions of sympathy in their recent sad bereavement in the loss of a loving wife and mother.

In Memoriam

O'Brien—In loving memory of a dear father and grandfather, John H. O'Brien, who passed away Oct. 25, 1937.

You are not forgotten, father, dear, Nor ever shall you be;
As long as life and memory last, We will remember thee.
Sadly missed by Allan, Marguerite and grandson, Jimmie.

O'Brien—In loving memory of John H. O'Brien, who passed away Oct. 25, 1937.
Beside your grave I often stand, With heart both crushed and sore;
But in the gloom the sweet words come, Not lost, but gone before.
God knows how much I miss you, He counts the tears I shed,
And whispers "be only sleep, Your loved one is not dead."
So I'll be brave dear husband, And pray to God each day,
And when he calls me home to you, Your smile will guide my way.
Sadly missed by his wife.

Denied Mother's Pension Her House Not Habitable

Unable To Find House For Newmarket Mother, Inspector Reports

The house in which she lives is in poor condition and cannot be kept warm, a mother receiving relief complained to the town council last week.

The house is to be sold by the town for taxes, and the rent is being collected by the town against the taxes. The lady asked the council to put the house in better shape. She couldn't keep it warm in September, she said.

"We know that this house isn't habitable," said Councillor W. W. Osborne. "We have to have a little of the rent on taxes. We put in 20 panes of glass. We papered two rooms. But the town doesn't own the house, and we don't feel warranted in spending much money on it. This lady will be getting a mother's allowance next month, and then she can choose her own house."

The lady stated that she had received notice from the provincial department that she was not eligible for mother's allowance.

Mr. Osborne said that the town would fix the water service, which hadn't been working properly. "The house isn't worth spending money on," he said.

Chief Constable James Sloss said that the relief committee hadn't been able to find another house for the lady.

Fred Chantler and B. A. Budd won chickens as high for one win. Eighteen rinks played.

PHEASANT HUNT IS ORDERLY
York county police described the two-day pheasant shoot in King and Markham townships as the most orderly in many a year. No serious accidents occurred. Oliver Sturdee, 75-year-old farmer of the Aurora district, was grazed by a bullet, while a dairy truck in the same area was splintered by shot.

Junior Puckchasers Start Season's Training Tonight

Early Training, Practices In Toronto, Is Aim Of Hockey Club

Pre-season activity in junior hockey in this section gets under way on Thursday evening of this week in the gymnasium of the high school under the eagle eye of Jim Goulding. Training sessions commence at 8 o'clock on Tuesday and Wednesday evenings thereafter. All interested in junior hockey are urged to attend, club officials state.

The juniors are expected to take to the ice within a week or so, for practices in Toronto, and efforts are being made to get the kinks out of their legs before then.

In addition to training for exhibition games in Midland, Penetang and Oshawa have been sent out. There is artificial ice in these centres, and it is hoped to get a game before the team enters into the Toronto S. P. A. series, which is only three weeks away.

A number of business details were considered by the club executive on Monday evening. A. M. Kirkwood and F. R. Underhill.

CHOIR CELEBRATES

Members of the choir of the Aurora Presbyterian church are holding a Halloween party on Thursday evening of this week.

should be asked to act as auditors, it was decided. They will meet with a committee to advise Treasurer Charles Kirk on the best methods of keeping the club's accounts.

George Pattenden, chairman of the finance committee, has the tough job of financing the club before it gets into its regular season of gate receipts, and under his direction arrangements for dances at Middlebrook's hall on Yonge St. are being made for Friday, Nov. 11, and Nov. 25.

Hopes for the team itself took an upward trend on Monday when a number of hockey stalwarts made known their wish to play with the juniors this season. Encouragement is being given to every boy to turn out for training and practice, and every lad with hockey ambitions will be given a fair trial, team managers state.

Mrs. L. Borden Entertains At Baptist Bible Class Reunion

Members Of Classes Of 25 Years Ago Meet Again In Aurora

About 40 people, former members of a Baptist Bible class with a pre-war history, met for a reunion on Saturday evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. L. Borden. As a memorial to their former teachers, members of the group decided to supply the new hymnary for the pews of the Aurora Baptist church.

The class originated some 25 years ago, as a girls' class, "The Willing Workers" and a boys' class, "The Perseverance Band," which carried on up to and including the war years. After the war the two classes were united into a young people's Bible class.

Though the members have moved away to different parts of the country as the years passed by, the class still exists and each year they gather together as many as possible for a renewal of fellowship.

A business meeting was conducted by the vice-president, Mrs. George Walker, in the absence of the president, Clarence Doolittle.

Officers elected for the coming year included: Mrs. C. Copson, president; J. Closs, vice-president; Mrs. L. Borden, secretary-treasurer; Mrs. O. Reynolds, social convener; W. H. Hulme, sports convener.

Out-of-town guests included Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Billing, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Wiltshire, Mr. and Mrs. Orval Reynolds, Mrs. E. Cullum, Mrs. C. Axton, Harold Axton, Miss Martha Walker, N. Martin, of Toronto; Mrs. Harry Hutchinson and Miss

Mrs. C. R. Boulding, who before her marriage was Irene Jenks, and was known over the radio, played two groups of piano solos and accompanied the singers at a song recital given by Miss Irene Beatty, at the Ward-Price Gallery in Toronto on Monday evening.

Calendar

On Friday evening of this week the Aurora Fire Brigade play hosts to their many friends at a Halloween euchre and dance to be held in Mechanics' Hall. A lot of planning has gone into the affair to make it a success. There will be prizes for both euchre and dancing, the firemen say.

The first of the winter series of euchres to be held by the Loyal True Blue in Aurora, will be held on Monday evening, Nov. 7, in the Orange hall. Aurora, and continue throughout the following months, closing the end of March, when a grand prize will be given for the largest score made during the whole series. The usual prizes will be given each night and lunch will be served.

Yvonne Hutchinson, Port Arthur; Mr. and Mrs. Wilmot Reynolds, Hespeler; Mr. and Mrs. George Henry, Hamilton; Mrs. R. J. Rogers, Clarkson; Mrs. Clifton Copson, King; Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hulme, Oak Ridge, and Miss Evelyn Seaton, King.

The class will meet next year at the home of Mrs. Rogers, Clarkson.

ABOUT TOWN

The habit of agreeing with people may be the sign of a sweet character—or it may be merely a sign of mental laziness. So, when readers of this column continue to treat the writer with politeness, we're never sure whether they approve of the things we say or whether they simply lack the desire to argue.

We know that not all of you could possibly agree with the opinions that fill this space each week, and we were wondering if this column was just another of those things about which even our best friends won't tell us.

It was a refreshing change, therefore, when someone told us last week—"I didn't finish reading your column this time, I didn't think it was interesting at all."

The person who made the remark was an Aurora merchant with whom we've often done business. We are pleased to think that the person felt they could make the criticism without the possibility of losing our trade. That's what we call a compliment.

And besides—we didn't think the column was very interesting ourselves.

LEAVE THOSE LEAVES!

Walk along any Aurora boulevard these days and you'll find two out of three of your neighbors raking up the fallen leaves, piling them up, and burning them—the funeral pyres of summer.

We enjoy watching other people work, and the pungent smell of burning leaves gives a more definite flavor to the autumn air. We were surprised, however, to find Aurorans—folk who take pride in their gardens—so intent on destroying one of the best means of enriching their garden loam.

We're not an expert in such matters, but we had a theory that the leaves were one of nature's best fertilizing agents. The leaves, in falling, were returning to the soil that which had been taken from it—helping to balance the account. Rain-soaked leaves, snowed under during the winter, quickly break down and are absorbed by the earth.

With so many folk busily ignoring the theory, we were beginning to think there was no truth in it. Our belief was confirmed the other day by an agricultural expert, via radio, and we are now able to tell you with complete assurance . . . leave those leaves!

SPEAKING OF HOCKEY

"As in other years, a systematic canvass will be made of all business places in town for the five and ten dollar donations which go a long way in laying the foundation for a successful year's hockey."

"All regular full time employees this year are also being invited to contribute to the extent of two bits weekly for ten weeks."

Stop worrying . . . the above paragraphs do not apply to Aurora hockey! They are clipped from the Penetanguishene Herald, a section of the Midland Free Press, and describe the efforts made by the Penetang club to finance its team.

So you see, we in Aurora get off luckily. Contributions to hockey are welcome, of course, but no systematic canvass of merchants or wage-earners has been made. In our opinion it is more likely that the merchants show an added profit because of the hockey club in Aurora.

Anyone who saw the crowd that came all the way from Parry Sound last year will know what we mean. And as far as the wage-earners of the town are concerned—they get a break too. The junior club has been responsible for hundreds of dollars going into the town coffers—lightening the burden of the taxpayers—a proportion of the money turned in at the gate by supporters of the hockey club.

To sum it up: a hockey club can be an expense and a liability to a town—or it can be an asset and a source of extra revenue. For the past few years, the hockey club has been in the latter class—an asset to Aurora.

As such, the club merits the town. This support can best be shown by attendance at the games. Besides which, you will find a real thrill in following the team. See how it shapes up in the pre-season exhibition (this) watch it fight its way to leadership of the group—and hold your breath while it takes on one after the other of the leaders of other groups.

Don't Hang Pheasant By Feet If You Want It Good To Eat

Reporter Learns Something New From Talk At Village Smithy

More things than horseshoeing can be learned in a blacksmith's shop. The Era reporter found when he dropped into Roy De La Haye's smithy on Monday.

He learned for example that shavings from a horse's hoof are good medicine for dogs.

"A dog will never have worms, if you give him a bit of this now and then," Roy De La Haye claimed, as he reached into the shavings box in the corner and offered it to a passing hound. "Veterinarians often drop in to get some."

"Dogs are crazy about it," a friend, who had stopped in to pass the time of day, declared. "If a dog finds a dead horse, the first thing he'll eat is the frog in the horse's hoof."

Burgers use it to pacify too-efficient watch dogs, another gentleman of leisure added.

The conversation changed from dogs to hunting.

"I've seen pictures in the paper," Harry Stephenson said, "that show hunters with expensive hunting togs; and fine guns, holding up a pheasant by the legs."

Holding a pheasant by the legs is simply not done, the reporter was given to understand. If the pheasant is hung by the legs, the liquid in the bird's body, tainted by the gunshot, will drain into the bird's breast, spoiling the flavor. Hang the birds by their necks and keep the white meat clean, would seem to be the story.

"Some people say they don't like

SERVICE CLUB EXECUTIVE PLANS FOR NEW SEASON

Executive members of the Aurora Service Club met on Tuesday evening to consider plans for the coming season.

"With a cotton-tail, one day is about enough. The cotton-tail stays near its burrow and doesn't do so much running. So one day will be sufficient to relax the cotton-tail."

"Don't hang any game by the legs," Mr. Stephenson concluded. His father was a game-keeper, he stated, and he ought to know.

Another in the group inside the village smithy had in his possession five apples, all on one stem. They were grown by Billy Hill, who lives two and a half miles south of Aurora.

The reporter also learned something of the local hockey situation.

"I hear we're going to have another fine hockey team this year," stated Mr. De La Haye.

"A chap by the name of Grant Webb, from Waukegan, came to town the weekend before last," Frank Grainger said. The boy was a hockey player and wanted to play with the Aurora team, he stated.

And then the reporter, his supply of paper exhausted, left for home.

Wife Of St. Andrew's College Master Thrown From Horse

Lucky to be alive, following accidents sustained while riding with the Toronto and North York Hunt Club on Saturday, are Frank Piveter, veteran Toronto rider, and Mrs. T. B. D. Tudball, of St. Andrew's College.

Both suffered fractured vertebrae in the neck. Mrs. Tudball's accident happened when her horse failed to clear a jump, throwing her to the ground. In addition to the injured vertebrae she suffered a broken nose.

Mr. Piveter was thrown when his horse stumbled in an open field. Both were rushed to York County Hospital, where their condition is reported to be favorable. Both are progressing satisfactorily, Dr. G. R. Boulding states.

Wife Can't Understand

The name of a leading statesman was put in nomination by a flowery speaker at a convention. The statesman and his wife were listening in on the radio at home.

The speaker had been eulogizing him for a half hour, giving his life history, the story of his rise and a red-hot description of his candidature and his characteristics. The statesman's wife, called from the room a moment, returned after the speaker had concluded his speech.

"Luther," she said, "who was that man that speaker was describing?"

"Panczy meeting you, old chap," said the first. "I thought you were doing a season with a company in the sticks."

"I closed last week," said the other. "I couldn't stand it."

"What!" exclaimed the first. "You mean you quit?"

"I had to," he replied. "I didn't mind it so much when they were paying salaries. And when the printing company refused us further credit and we had to rely on gossip to publicize the show I was not greatly upset. But when the electric company turned off the power and we started to use glow-worms for footlights, I quit!"

Two broadwayites sat in a restaurant. At the end of the meal, one requested a loan.

"Can I borrow 20 bucks for a week?" he asked.

"Sure," replied the other, counting out the money.

As they arose, the latter man spoke again.

"Remember," he reminded, "that's only for a week."

"You'll get your money," he screamed. "Stop hounding me!"

until the finals, then kicks about the price of his ticket, and spends the rest of the season telling the public how the club should be run.

Our favorite pet, on the other hand, is the chap, who, like Al. Mitchell, turns up to every game, places his car at the service of the club, stands ready to support the club in any way he can . . . and never a word of criticism for the boys who played their best, or for the lads who try to manage the club's affairs.

The newly appointed minister of the Presbyterian church, Rev. J. Kenneth McCready, is occupying only part of the church manse.

Town, Sisman Boys Look Good For Play-Downs

The shoemakers continued their winning ways in the town indoor football league when they handed the tannery team a 4-0 defeat on Monday night. Sisman's showed a more organized attack and worked together better in the defence department, too, while the tanners failed to impress in either end of the arena.

They kept trying, however, and were good opposition until the final whistle blew.

The foundry squad looked as if they might shake their losing streak when they booted in the first goal in the first period of their game against the town team. The towners came back strong, however, and held the foundry men from further scoring while they rolled in a total of four goals themselves.

The double-header to be played tonight will be the last before the playoffs, which will probably see the town and Sisman teams battling it out in a two-game struggle.

L. O'wram Named Badminton Head

More than a score of people were present at Mechanics' Hall on Monday night to take part in an organization meeting of the badminton club. Elections were held and plans were made to form a North York badminton league.

Badminton is already under way in Mechanics' Hall and an enthusiastic membership is anticipated. It is hoped to have an inter-club meeting on Friday evening.

The Monday meeting was in the charge of the service group and Mrs. W. H. Hulme presided. Rev. W. L. Polfrayman gave a fine address on the value of church worship. Marie Hulme and Freda Fairly sang a duet.

Sisman's Win Right To Meet Towners In Football Finals

Tannery And Foundry Teams Eliminated In Friday Struggle

Friday night's double-dipper of football saw the elimination of both the tannery and foundry teams from possible play-off positions.

The heavy-hitting town squad had run up a 4-3 lead over the tannery lads early in the second half, but on Friday night, the tannery agreed to concede the victory after a somewhat stormy session of play.

Play between the shoemakers and the foundry team was a little closer, though the shoemakers won by a 2-0 count. Bolman, stalwart foundry goalie, was out-lucked on one play when he kicked the ball out of the goal mouth, only to have it bounce back off Walt Long to tally the first goal.

Young Cy Harmon booted one in for the foundry later in the

Wagons Placed On Barn Roof In "Good Old Days" Older Recalls

Hallowe'en festivities in the high and public school will continue along the lines followed last year, with a few small changes in plans.

The public school pupils will return to their school rooms in costume after supper on Monday evening. When their costumes have been judged they will proceed to the post office, in front of which they will do some singing. After that they will return to their rooms for the all-important "shelt-out."

So far as the high school lads and lassies are concerned, they will celebrate on Friday evening with a party and dance in the school auditorium. The girls are bringing lunches for two. Boys bring 15 cents and for this sum are allowed to pick one of the lunches, keeping in mind the fact that a girl goes with each bundle of lunch.

While it would seem difficult to tell a blonde from a brunette, just by the sandwich filling, all students are eagerly looking forward to the affair.

Seeking to learn how Hallowe'en was celebrated in Aurora's good old days, The Era reporter queried some of the older lads about town.

"That's one thing I can't tell you anything about," T. H. Broad, who can remember most of the town's history, declared. "My father never allowed me out of the house much in the evenings. I'm not sure whether it made me a better man or not, but I can't remember any Hallowe'ens."

W. H. Taylor was interviewed, but didn't have much to say. He didn't say he hadn't been out on Hallowe'en, but he seemed to feel that the least said about it, the better.

"It might encourage the children to follow our example," Mr. Taylor stated.

John Ough was also interviewed and he recommended Thomas Graham.

"He should be able to tell you a few things," Mr. Ough said. Mr. Graham's memory went back to the time before the present public school was built, and a four-room school stood in its stead.

Some of the school boys had felt the strap from the hand of one of the schoolmasters a few times too often and decided to square up the account. Borrowing staves from a nearby barrel factory, they boarded up the doors and windows of the schoolmaster's house. He had to call for help to get out.

Another time, the victim of a Hallowe'en prank was Henry Wells, whose farm was on Kennedy St. Mr. Wells had loaded a wagon full of sacks of grain, ready to drive it to the market in the morning.

When the morning dawned, however, he found his wagon resting on top of the barn, neatly loaded with grain.

And still another time, Mr. Graham remembers, when the shoe factory was being erected in Aurora, there was a good deal of road equipment being used on Mosley St. At least, it was on Mosley St. before nightfall. After nightfall, something happened to it. Puzzled townsfolk, unable to get down Aurora's Yonge St., found that it was completely blocked by the equipment.

But it was all in fun, Mr. Graham pointed out, and the boys did not do any intentional damage.

VETERANS ARRANGE POPPY DAY, ANNUAL SERVICE

Aurora veterans will assemble at the town hall at 8.30 p.m. on Sunday, Nov. 6, and parade to Trinity Anglican church for their annual service. The veterans will wear medals and berets and will be addressed by Rev. G. O. Lightbourn.

Poppy Day, which is being held on Saturday, Nov. 5, will be followed by a veterans' meeting in the town hall at 8.30 p.m.

The game ended with the foundry pressing hard round the shoemakers' goal. Sisman's managed to hold their lead however, to earn the right to meet the town team in the play-offs.

Just the other day we received a letter from a young man who is teaching in a rural school. The letter contained a report of the values of a travelling library which he used last winter in the community where he was teaching.

When our friend received the library which is provided by the department of education at no cost except the payment of transportation one way, we decided to assist him with local publicity. Sheets explaining the service of the library and listing some of the books were mimeographed. The children of the school considered themselves greatly honored when they were entrusted with the responsibility of delivering one of these to each home in the community.

Adults began asking the children to bring them books as they came from school. Other adults began to drop in at the school to secure reading matter. They stopped for a few minutes to talk about books, and crops, and weather, and a hundred other subjects. There was a real social value in these acquaintances.

VICTORIA SQUARE VACANCY LEFT IN COMMUNITY

The funeral of the late Mrs. Alvin Caseley was held from her home on Tuesday, Oct. 18. Following a short service at the home interment was made in the Victoria Square cemetery. This was followed by a public service in the United church which was crowded to capacity by sorrowing relatives and friends. Rev. John Macdonald had charge of the service and based his sermon on portions of the 8th chapter of Romans and Revelations, chapters 21 and 22. Rev. Frank Gilbert, a former pastor, also assisted with the service.

A male quartet composed of Egbert Avison, R. E. Sanderson,

Herbert Smith and Boyd Mount sang "Saved by Grace."

The pallbearers were Frank Brunwell, Kenneth Duncan, Cecil Wellman and Gordon Morrison. The untimely passing of Mrs. Caseley leaves a vacancy in the community that will not soon be filled.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris of Bradford, Mrs. Geo. McCague, Sr., of Toronto, Mr. Geo. McCague, Jr., of Alliston, were among the many out-of-town friends that returned last week for Mrs. Caseley's funeral.

The V.P.U. last Sunday evening was in charge of the Christian culture committee and a very enjoyable program was presented. The guest speaker was Paul Humber who has spent the past six years in Japan both as a teacher and missionary. His address was splendidly illustrated by some 50 beautiful slides. Miss Viola Avison and Mr. Walter Smith sang "The Old Rugged Cross" which was much enjoyed.

The United church choir will assist with the service of praise at King next Sunday evening.

Death visited the community again last Saturday night and claimed the life of Samuel Wideman, who was in his 77th year. The funeral was held on Tuesday afternoon with a short service at the home at 1.30, followed by a public service in Heise Hill church. Interment was made in the adjoining cemetery. The sincere sympathy of the community goes out to the bereaved family.

Readers are asked to remember the dates for the church anniversary and fowl supper which are being held on Nov. 6 and 9 respectively.

Mr. William Edgar passed away at his home here on Saturday last after a very long illness. The funeral service was held on Monday afternoon at the late residence with Rev. F. V. Abbott officiating. Interment took place in the Schomberg cemetery. Deepest sympathy is extended to his sorrowing wife and two daughters, Teresa and Lillian.

A number of the hunting residents took advantage of the two-day open season on pheasants last week with varied success.

The Presbyterian church observed special services here on Sunday at 11 a.m. and 7 p.m. The preacher was Rev. Mr. Ross of Bolton with the choir from the tenth line King Presbyterian church leading the music. Good congregations attended both services.

EVERSLEY Visiting Choirs Provide Music

Sunday was an unexpectedly fine day, and Eversley Presbyterian church was aglow with autumn blooms and full with a congregation to hear Rev. Mr. Fuller of Markham and Stouffville preach anniversary services. He preached two good sermons, in the morning on "The Church Universal" and in the evening from the text "Love never faileth."

In the morning the Eversley choir was assisted by a quartet from Maple and their organist. These contributed several fine hymns. In the evening Newmarket Presbyterian church choir filled the choir corner and gave a fine service of song.

Eight members of Pine Orchard choir were with them and members here were glad to meet their friend, Ralph Willis, who is so well known in Women's Institutes as the district president. Sincere thanks are due to these friends for their kind response to Eversley's call for help with the music.

The church was decorated as became a harvest thanksgiving, with bright vegetables in groups. Some beautiful dahlias, the finest of their kind, were there and late asters. Conspicuous among the flowers were the marigolds, French, Scotch and African. For autumn gold these flowers bravely bloom till a hard frost nips them.

The continued fine weather brought friends to "Scots Wha Hae." On Sunday Mrs. Wm. Rae, formerly of Connaught Gardens, Newmarket, her son, Ted, with his wife and two month's old son, Teddy, spent a couple of hours. On Saturday, Mr. and Mrs. Wellington Travis and Ernest of Newmarket spent a few hours with their cousins here and earlier in the afternoon, a cousin from California, Mrs. Sadie Ramsay Post, and Mr. Ray Post, called for a renewal of friendship. Sadie Ramsay is the daughter of the late Wm. Ramsay of Orillia, famed as the builder of carriages, the Ramsay carts, wagons, etc. Mrs. Post made calls in Newmarket on her way down from Orillia, where she had spent two weeks. Among other friends she called on Mrs. Jos. Sutherland, whom this correspondent remembers in her high school days.

Members of Toronto Presbyterian, officers from the provincial organization and Miss Bessie MacMurey, international secretary, were also present.

Mrs. Hill, president of Toronto, brought greetings from the Presbyterian. Mrs. Williams, provincial president, gave a helpful address, as did Miss MacMurey. The officers present from Toronto were introduced. Bolton ladies brought greetings, and Mrs. Black from Strange, Miss Ferguson from Eversley, Mrs. Boak from the 9th, Miss Ann Cairns presided.

Mrs. Ballard read the history of the auxiliary, Mrs. Chambers, the latest addition to the membership, read the scripture. Mrs. Lyman Davis of the organ "lifted the tones" for two of the hymns, as the old time method was followed of sitting to sing, standing to pray and singing without the use of the organ. Miss Hunter, assistant secretary of the Toronto Presbyterian, and delightfully two numbers, accompanied by Miss Agnes MacLean of the publications.

It was a delightful service and a social hour following was much enjoyed. Mrs. Cooper of Willowdale, senior sectional vice-president, and Mrs. Cunningham of Richmond Hill were present. Mrs. D. McIntyre of Newmarket, sectional vice-president, was the only officer absent.

SUTTON
Discuss New
Hockey Groups

At the annual hockey meeting held in the Sutton town hall on Thursday night the possibility of a grouping with Gravenhurst, Newmarket and Barrie was discussed. Gravenhurst had previously made known their desire to play in such a group, inasmuch as such an arrangement would do away with the customary long trips and they realize that the teams mentioned would draw large crowds.

Last year's executive remained intact except for the vacancy of the third vice-president, Clarence W. Bodley of Pefferlaw, a well-known sportsman replacing "Mi" Sedore who will be away for the hockey season. President J. D. Sibbald unsuccessfully attempted to resign his position which he claimed could not be occupied for more than two terms according to a ruling. The meeting lost no time in suspending the two-year rule to restore the popular sportsman by a unanimous standing vote.

The officers elected are: president, J. D. Sibbald; 1st vice-president, Wm. H. Pugsley; 2nd vice-president, Frank Sherman; 3rd vice-president, Clarence W. Bodley; directors: Dave W. Treloar, George P. Holborn, Dave Pivnick, Frank G. Burrows and Bert Brooks. Frank Culverwell was re-elected chairman of the transportation committee with Garnard Hamilton as his assistant.

Frank Kaiser, who has been responsible for most of the club's dances to date was the unanimous choice to handle this season's dance. The dance will take place in the Sutton town hall on Thursday, Dec. 1.

BELHAVEN
Caught In Shaft
Farmer Injured

Jay Nelson, a farmer of Belhaven, five miles west of here, narrowly escaped death when he was caught in the rapidly revolving shaft of a tractor which was drawing a North Gwillimbury gravel crusher at the Locke pit on Thursday morning. Fellow-workmen rushed the injured man to his home a mile away. Dr. J. H. Wesley had him removed to York county hospital at Newmarket.

Mrs. M. D. Horner has been confined to her bed for some time owing to illness. Her daughter, Mrs. Nelson, is staying with her.

Walker Prosser has completed his work with Harland Huntley, where he has been helping with fall work.

Nov. 8 is the date of the next Women's Institute meeting in the community hall commencing at 2.30 p.m. The president, Mrs. Thos. Horner, has been able to resume her duties since her illness. She missed two meetings. One of the vice-presidents, Mrs. George M. Fairbairn, has been unable to attend owing to illness. Mrs. Harry Horner will be in charge of the December, January and February programs and Mrs. M. Sedore of Willow Beach will be in charge of March, April and May programs.

At the November meeting the roll call will be answered by "How the Institute can help the public school." Music will be played by Miss Helen Huntley and Phyllis Sedore. A paper on temperance will be given by Mrs. E. Yorke. Current events will be read by L. Marritt. The hostesses are Mrs. Ivan Mann, Mrs. Harold Winch, Mrs. William Winch and Mrs. Geo. Fairbairn. All are welcome at the meetings.

The October Institute meeting was very interesting and entertaining when Lakeside W. I. visited Belhaven and gave the program.

The weather this fall has been exceptionally fine most of the time. A few showers have kept the grass looking green.

There is a new storekeeper in Belhaven. C. Fairbairn has moved and Mr. Underhill has taken possession of the store occupied by Mr. Fairbairn.

Zephyr

One of the most successful anniversaries in the history of Zephyr United church was held on Oct. 23. Rev. D. W. Christie of Toronto was the guest preacher. His sermons were inspiring and interesting and much appreciated by the large congregations. The choir rendered suitable music, with pleasing voice and harmony. This anniversary marked the re-opening of the church, after being painted and decorated and with the new lighting electric fixtures the church looked lovely for the occasion. The thank offerings for the day were very gratifying. The beautiful display of autumn flowers, together with fruits and vegetables, added much to the Thanksgiving services.

Owing to the anniversary services at Sandford United church, there will be no church service here next Sunday. It is hoped that many from here will attend these services at Sandford at 11 a.m. and 7.30 p.m.

Mr. Nelson spent Sunday with Mrs. Profit. Mrs. Nelson, who has been spending a few days with Mrs. Profit, returned home with him and their son and daughter. Miss Julia Madill is visiting in Toronto for a week.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfrid Galbraith and baby visited Mr. Galbraith's father and mother on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Shields of Toronto were at Mrs. R. Harmon's for the weekend. Mrs. Shields is staying this week also.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Murray spent Sunday afternoon with Mr. and Mrs. Lunney and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Peers were at Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Pickering's on Sunday.

Mrs. Goodwin, Miss Lois Goodwin and Mrs. W. Ryndar are spending a day or two at Ottawa.

Mr. and Mrs. H. D. Miller and family have moved to Ballantrae after residing here about six years. Zephyr's loss will be Ballantrae's gain, as they will be greatly missed. The W. M. S. of the United church sent Mrs. Miller a letter of appreciation of the help she has given them. The family also received several lovely gifts from personal friends prior to their departure. All wish them success in their new home.

A Halloween dance will be held on Friday night, Oct. 28, at 8.30 p.m.

O'Connor Gets Technical K.O.

By CHAS. E. CUNNINGHAM
Newmarket A. C.'s second boxing bout, staged at the town hall on Thursday evening of last week, turned out quite successfully. The boxing was of first-class calibre and the club certainly deserved much better support from local fans. However, the crowd that did attend were well pleased with the show and are looking forward to more of this kind of entertainment in the future.

The first bout was between Tommy Burke, Newmarket, and Charlie Ransome, Richmond Hill. The two boys put on a very good performance for three rounds and the crowd were sorry to see them leave the ring. Burke had a little more polish than his rival and therefore gained the decision.

In the second bout Auggie Ferguson of Barrie kept his string of victories intact by defeating Ernie Hicks of Toronto. These two boys were about as evenly matched as could be possible and yet award a decision. Ferguson won the bout on his hard, well-placed punches.

The third bout brought together Lorne Ferguson, brother of Auggie, and Tommy Foster, Toronto's colored sensation. This bout was also closely contested with Ferguson taking the decision. The judges had quite a task in picking a winner as the colored lad could certainly take it and also hand it out in fair style.

The semi-final bout between Eric Cryderman, Sutton, and Bus. Hurdman, Toronto, was the sad disappointment of the evening. According to officials, the fake that was pulled was all news to them and they felt just as badly as the crowd about the poor display that was put on. It looked to us as if Cryderman was sadly unaware of the jest put on by his opponent.

The main bout was certainly full of action, sparring, punching, and all that goes to make a real boxing bout. Newmarket's Johnny O'Connor surprised a number of Newmarket people by the sterling performance that he put on with Larry Hines, Toronto silver glove champion. Hines, of course, has had a lot more experience, but all kinds of credit must go to Johnny for his high-class performance in winning the bout on a technical knockout.

Relief cost $742.87 in September, compared with $709.78 in September, 1937, Councilor A. V. Higginson reported to the town council last week.

There were 68 on relief this year and 103 last year, although a number of those on relief last year were receiving shelter only. Mr. Higginson said. Both fuel and food costs were greater this year than last, he said.

Perrault = Emes Nuptials Held

St. Anthony's church at Virginia, four miles east of here, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Monday morning of this week, when Teresa Margaret, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Emes of Sutton, became the bride of Wilfred "Curly" Perrault, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Perrault of Toronto.

The bride, who looked lovely, attired in a blue velvet gown, was given in marriage by her father, Dorothy Perrault, sister of the groom, dressed in a beautiful gown of wine velvet, acted as bridesmaid, while Lorne Osborne was groomsmen.

After the ceremony, which was performed by Father Flannigan of Beaverton, the bridal party was received at the bride's home at Sutton. Following the reception the couple left for a motor trip to the United States, the bride attired in a tailored travelling suit with matching accessories. On their return they will reside at Sutton West.

SUTTON Record Crowd Enjoys Supper

The anniversary services of the Sutton United church took place on Sunday last when the guest speaker for both the afternoon and evening services was Rev. E. E. Pugsley of Cannington.

Pefferlaw choir supplied music for the afternoon service, while the Keswick choir, with Rev. C. E. Fockler assisting, took the musical part of the evening service.

A hot fowl supper was held on Wednesday evening in the church, in connection with the anniversary celebrations, when one of the largest crowds on record was in attendance. A concert was held following the dinner, at which the Woodville quartet and the Crosby sisters of Uxbridge gave the program.

Other housewives may recall him, for he was very pleasant, and didn't press one to buy if they were not so inclined. He and his young son came round in an old motor-car selling the result of their handicraft and this was what he told me. Like many another he could find little or no work in the city, and had a wife and two children dependent on him. Living as they did in the city, their thoughts turned to a holiday in the country during the summer—but with little hope of ever realizing their dream.

Just how the idea originated he couldn't tell, but they decided to learn the handicraft of willow-weaving, and if they could make and sell things that housewives liked and needed, they might manage to live on the income from their work in the country during the summer.

As soon as fine weather arrived they stored everything not absolutely necessary—bought a second-hand car, and a second-hand tent, and with necessary things for their work, off they set. Of course they had to pick a spot where the proper kind of willow grew, with a stream nearby to soak the willow wands to make them pliable. I fancy they had to search a good while, but finally located up near the Green Lane, so far as I could judge from his description.

So they established themselves and they all worked away with a will, and the articles they made were both useful and ornamental, and well-woven and strongly made as well.

If the weather was inclement they all worked, but when the sun shone, he and the young son would start on the road to sell what they could.

They told me they could live twice as cheaply in the country, and with daylight saving they had no light bills to pay. The farmer, from whom they obtained permission to live for the while in a corner of his field, allowed them to pick up fallen limbs of trees for the old cook-stove that he had loaned them. The farmer's family were well supplied with samples of their willow-wares in return, you may be sure. Of course, they bought their supplies from the farm.

I have so often recalled his story, and you certainly do have to admire their original way of having a holiday. The family stayed together, and even if they did all work, I am sure they must have made play of it, from the cheery ways of the man and his young son, both summers they called at my door. They were delighted to tell about it, and naturally they had an interested listener. I thought the life quite ideal. It was a gypsy holiday and yet it was not, for as a rule the gypsies do little work, keep very untidy camps and make their living in far different ways to handicraft. And what's more, farmers do not encourage them.

These people did honest work, were not an annoyance to the farmer and his family—were more of an asset, I should say, than otherwise. They were self-supporting and paid their way gladly. They even made more things ready to take back to Toronto to sell when time came for their return. And all the while they were enjoying God's good earth and living the healthful life of the "great out-of-doors" and do you know what I think about it—that we are far happier when our lives are filled full to overflowing with pleasant, interesting things that keep our hands busy, I don't mean over-work, for "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

And anyone who loves to be kept busy and has had the experience of being laid aside for a while, will most certainly appreciate that. How does that old rhyme go—I don't suppose I can quote it correctly, but it goes something like this.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Kay of Belhaven, and Mr. and Mrs. Robert Davidson, spent Sunday afternoon at Brooklin at Mr. John Johnston's and Mr. J. D. Davidson's. Mr. Davidson will celebrate his 89th birthday on Saturday.

Handicraft

By GOLDEN GLOW

There are many, many samples of handicraft to be seen everywhere around us, day by day, but it was one particular type that came to my mind today as I was "housecleaning" my woven willow fernery, and re-potting the ferns. You know, I expect, what I refer to—the sort of wicker-work oblong affairs, like a box on four legs, that we keep standing by a window to hold house-plants. And I began by wondering if the chap that made mine had been around again, and I had not been home, for if he was, I have missed him.

Other housewives may recall him, for he was very pleasant, and didn't press one to buy if they were not so inclined. He and his young son came round in an old motor-car selling the result of their handicraft and this was what he told me. Like many another he could find little or no work in the city, and had a wife and two children dependent on him. Living as they did in the city, their thoughts turned to a holiday in the country during the summer—but with little hope of ever realizing their dream.

Just how the idea originated he couldn't tell, but they decided to learn the handicraft of willow-weaving, and if they could make and sell things that housewives liked and needed, they might manage to live on the income from their work in the country during the summer.

As soon as fine weather arrived they stored everything not absolutely necessary—bought a second-hand car, and a second-hand tent, and with necessary things for their work, off they set. Of course they had to pick a spot where the proper kind of willow grew, with a stream nearby to soak the willow wands to make them pliable. I fancy they had to search a good while, but finally located up near the Green Lane, so far as I could judge from his description.

So they established themselves and they all worked away with a will, and the articles they made were both useful and ornamental, and well-woven and strongly made as well.

If the weather was inclement they all worked, but when the sun shone, he and the young son would start on the road to sell what they could.

They told me they could live twice as cheaply in the country, and with daylight saving they had no light bills to pay. The farmer, from whom they obtained permission to live for the while in a corner of his field, allowed them to pick up fallen limbs of trees for the old cook-stove that he had loaned them. The farmer's family were well supplied with samples of their willow-wares in return, you may be sure. Of course, they bought their supplies from the farm.

I have so often recalled his story, and you certainly do have to admire their original way of having a holiday. The family stayed together, and even if they did all work, I am sure they must have made play of it, from the cheery ways of the man and his young son, both summers they called at my door. They were delighted to tell about it, and naturally they had an interested listener. I thought the life quite ideal. It was a gypsy holiday and yet it was not, for as a rule the gypsies do little work, keep very untidy camps and make their living in far different ways to handicraft. And what's more, farmers do not encourage them.

These people did honest work, were not an annoyance to the farmer and his family—were more of an asset, I should say, than otherwise. They were self-supporting and paid their way gladly. They even made more things ready to take back to Toronto to sell when time came for their return. And all the while they were enjoying God's good earth and living the healthful life of the "great out-of-doors" and do you know what I think about it—that we are far happier when our lives are filled full to overflowing with pleasant, interesting things that keep our hands busy, I don't mean over-work, for "all work and no play makes Jack a dull boy."

And anyone who loves to be kept busy and has had the experience of being laid aside for a while, will most certainly appreciate that. How does that old rhyme go—I don't suppose I can quote it correctly, but it goes something like this.

EXCERPTS

FROM O. A. C.

CO-OPERATIVE CONFERENCE

(Taken from Rural Co-operator)

Our people feel that they are now getting to grips with economic forces.—A. B. MacDonald.

We have had some failures of co-operatives in the past, it is true. But it does not mean that co-operation has failed; it may mean that our methods of co-operative business have not been correctly carried on.—Hon. P. M. Dewar.

If co-operatives are to continue to serve the country, Canadians must realize the need of more educational work in studying the underlying principles of co-operation.—J. F. Booth.

Among Ontario farmers today there are many who are really in bondage—in bondage to the merchants, implement dealers and automobile finance companies. Credit unions offer a chance of emancipating the people.—W. H. Porter.

Undoubtedly, one of the bad practices formerly followed and still often followed in co-operative business is that of selling at a cost plus basis, leaving no margin for reserves and educational work.—Hon. P. M. Dewar.

Is there any reason why the farmer should not have some say in the price that he is to receive? And is there anyone who deserves that right more than he does?—Hon. P. M. Dewar.

From my study of the credit union movement, I think it should be introduced to rural Ontario in the smaller places, perhaps through the young people's organizations; this is a new field and it demands young, fresh minds.—Prof. H. Michell.

With 140 credit unions organized since 1933, embracing 25,000 members, we in Nova Scotia are proud of our fine record in credit union administration. But we greatly fear that, through lack of proper supervision, the credit unions of Ontario and western Canada may have failures and bring discredit on the whole movement.—A. B. MacDonald.

When a people are debt-ridden, they are not free to act, it even to think, as they wish.—A. B. MacDonald.

In co-operative marketing it is impossible to reduce costs of marketing services below a certain point.—W. H. J. Tisdale.

Sound education must precede co-operative organization. Take the case of one of our lobster canning co-operatives. The association decided to pay seven cents a pound as an initial payment, which was formerly all the fishermen were getting. The private dealers promptly raised their price to nine cents. These fishermen were poor men; they needed that extra two cents right at the time, but through education they recognized the bait and didn't bite.—A. B. MacDonald.

The mutual fire insurance companies of Canada (co-operative institutions) have a long and enviable business record; the risk being carried amounts to more than $1,000,000,000.—J. F. Booth.

Have we yet grasped the full implications of co-operation? I do not think we have. I know that we cannot immediately set up a co-operative wholesale for all classes of goods and we cannot immediately go into co-operative manufacturing, but is there any harm in having that distant objective in mind?—Hon. P. M. Dewar.

The unscrupulous promoters must be kept out for the good of the movement.—Hon. P. M. Dewar.

I felt lonely driving a few hundred miles through Ontario because I missed the familiar "Co-op" signs on stores, shops, warehouses, plants and credit unions.—A. B. MacDonald.

Our university, being an independent one, did not hesitate to promote a program which led to economic action. We have no millionaires on our board of governors.—A. B. MacDonald.

We held a month's course at the college last year, with 140 in attendance. These were picked people to be trained as community leaders. Educational funds of some of the co-operatives are used to provide scholarships for "The world is so full of such interesting things. That I'm sure we should all be as happy as kings."

MacDonald.

Man is never happier than when doing something to better the lot of his neighbors and himself. It is just this that he is doing in building sound co-operation.—Hon. P. M. Dewar.

There are enough people at this conference to go out and revolutionize the co-operative movement in this province.—Hon.

Many people think that marketing of farm products merely consists of selling them. There is a whole lot more to it than that. In the case of wool the product has to be assembled, graded and stored; insurance has to be provided and markets developed and maintained.—W. H. S. Tisdale.

You will be pleasantly surprised at the low cost of Era printing.
